NEW SCHOOL of MUSIC

Temporary Piano Instructor (Spring 2027)

The New School of Music (NSM) in Cambridge seeks a creative, flexible, experienced, and engaging part-time piano instructor to temporarily teach private lessons to children and adults of all ages (5+) throughout the duration of a faculty member's parental leave.

Lessons occur primarily during after-school school hours during our core academic calendar. We anticipate the temporary piano instructor will be needed during after-school hours on Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturday mornings from February-June. Lessons could continue through the summer. All lessons occur at the New School of Music, located just outside of Harvard Square.

NSM is an inclusive community music school for children and adults. We welcome all levels, from first time beginners to students with decades of experience. Our faculty adapt to students' diverse learning styles and support students' goals.

Applications will be reviewed as they are received.

Compensation: $52.55-$70.00 per hour, depending on class size

The ideal candidate will have:

- a genuine passion for teaching and sharing music with young people
- demonstrated experience working with children
- dedication to inclusivity in all school-related interactions and communications
- shown ability to be creative in the lesson to actively engage students
- developmentally age-appropriate curriculums
- Bachelor's or Master's in performance, music education, music pedagogy, or equivalent work experience

Please email director@newschoolofmusic.org with the following information:

- Cover letter, include details of your teaching experience & available days for teaching, including Saturday and Sunday
- Teaching resume
- A list of 2-3 professional references (please include name, contact information, title, and relationship to applicant)

Please include the job title in the email subject line.
